DEDICATION . . .

To those devoted individuals who, through faith and confidence in the cause of education, sacrificed and labored to found and perpetuate this institution of higher learning;

To those alumni who, though somewhat separated in distance, are one in the common consecration of time, means, and self to the continuation and success of this High School;

To those who shall accept the challenge for the future needs of Bedford High School.

. . . this book is dedicated.

A Bedford student takes advantage of a moment of solitude to pause and study. The times of silence,

The Golden Years are not the products of circumstance but, rather, the results of hard work and endurance. The battles of this country have insured better times for many Americans despite the immediate sorrow they caused thousands of families. The stately homes of Bedford could never have existed if early settlers had not been willing to brave the dangers and hardships of an unsettled land. Today's youth must sacrifice the carefree days of childhood to prepare himself for the duties and responsibilities he will soon face as an adult. The long, tedious hours of study are spent in the expectation of more promising tomorrows.

combined with the more boisterous activities, form the total impression of the high school days.

Progress denotes the spirit of the Golden Years. The development of faster and less expensive transportation greatly changed the variety and prices of goods offered in Bedford businesses. These changes in the methods of transportation were among the first signs that Bedford was becoming a city of industry. The influx of factories had a profound effect upon the Bedford School System. The increasing number of students necessitated the building of larger schools, and the needs of a manufacturing town called for more specialized training in the classroom. With the opening of Bedford High School in 1871, Bedford entered the world of modern and stimulating education.

MARCHING

CUTTERS

In the Golden Years, music instructors have tried to transform each student into an accomplished soloist. Modern high school bands stress the need for their members to be able to play as a team. However, individual achievement is still recognized and encouraged. Outstanding performers who have worked untiringly and have competed well are often rewarded as a means of showing approval for excellence.

Memories are the key to deciding what are the Golden Years. As each person tries to locate his own Golden Years, he will undoubtedly choose those which have the most pleasing memories. Some of Bedford's adult citizens speak of "the good old days" as being the earlier years of this century and remember fondly the first cars and buildings which have since been demolished. Bedford students think of more recent incidents. They remember the hours spent cramming for a test, or they remember receiving a special honor. Whatever the memories are, they form the basis for selecting the Golden Years.

Words of advice.

All schools endeavor to prepare their students for the roles they will face as adults. For early Bedford schools, this meant teaching students to read, to write, and to use arithmetic. However, today's jobs call for more complex training. Students can now take courses in vocational preparation and on-the-job training. Besides giving students "book learning," schools also try to build character. Competition is used to teach students to give their utmost during the game, but to forget rivalry afterward. This preparation, both in skills and compatibility, forms the foundation for the Golden Years.

Homecoming 1970

The Golden Years have brought many changes in the role of extra-curricular activities. Some modern students spend their leisure time in a carefree manner, but most choose to join clubs to gain experience in competing for recognition. Today emphasis is laid on the betterment of the entire organization rather than one person. Through the years at Bedford High School, many extra-curricular activities have given pleasure to the students.

Hurry or we'll be late!

Who could forget the trips to the tunnel, limestone, and the walks through Lawrence County in the fall?

In most cases, when people are asked what were the best times of their life, they tend to look to the past to determine what were the Golden Years for them. Important people, places, and occurrences are remembered with a sense of longing to return to past times. However, it is just as important to realize that today is also a part of the Golden Years. Some of the most important events in the history of man have occurred during the lifespan of today's high school students. A special characteristic of youth is their ability to see better times in the future. Working towards a more promising tomorrow, today's students are laying the foundation for the Golden Years of the future.

In 1871 the Bedford Graded Schools were organized, and the people little dreamed of how great an organization it would become.

Several attempts were made to establish a graded school before this, but they met with little success. Because of low attendance, lack of system, and the short time in which they were kept open, the schools were prevented from attaining any great efficiency. At last an attempt to establish a graded school for the benefit of the civil township proceeded so far that the foundations for such a school building were placed on the site of what is now the area occupied by Bedford High School.

This movement created great dissatisfaction among the residents outside the township and the immediate vicinity. It finally resulted in the incorporation of the town. The school building became the property of the town and was finally completed in 1871. It was a six room building, with a seating capacity of around three hundred. The entire cost of the building and the equipment was about $27,000. School opened in September, 1871, and at one o'clock November 24, 1871, the building was destroyed by fire. This disaster resulted in a total loss, as there was no insurance. At a crowded meeting of the town held on the evening of the same day, the trustees were instructed to build at once a larger school building. As soon as the debris of the old one had been cleared away, work was begun on the new building, which was completed in 1873. The school opened in September of that year.

Between the years 1871 and 1885 there developed a strong and healthy youngster—Bedford High School. The enrollment had not increased much, but it was keeping pace with the community and with general trends of education of the day. In this period comparatively few people in the community considered a high school education necessary, except those who were going to college.

In 1874 the first graduating class of Bedford was composed of six members. Then in 1875 there was graduated a class of five members. All of these members had entered high school in the fall of 1871. The first two classes, '74 and '75, pursued their course of study together, with the exception of Latin, which only the class of '74 had.

Until the organization of the public schools in Bedford, there were only free (district schools) and private schools. Consequently, the pupils were not accustomed to the system and discipline, and it was quite difficult for the pupils to adjust themselves to the new order of things. But, under the efficient leadership of Professor James H. Madden, the first superintendent, and his wife, order was soon brought out of chaos, and the public and parents were ready to assist in every way they could. They took great pride in everything connected with our early schools.

In 1876 the school was becoming more organized. The commencement exercises of the class of 1876 were held in the Town Hall. There were seven graduates, all girls. This was the first class to be composed entirely of girls. Many of these graduates were descendants of the pioneer residents of Bedford.

The class of 1877 was the fourth and largest class to graduate from B.H.S. up to this time. The group of eleven consisted mainly of girls, as did many classes at this time since the boys had to work to help support families.

The boys and girls rather evened out, though, in the class of 1878-79. There were six girls and five boys. One of its graduates was Edward Rector, who later ranked as one of the leading patent lawyers in the country. From this, he advanced to a teaching position at DePauw University. Another prominent graduate was Frances M. Stalker, who became well known as an educator. He was one of the most respected and popular professors of the State Normal School at Terre Haute.

The classes of 1880-81 were combined and graduated with the latter in 1881. The class was duly proud of its members since it surpassed the preceding classes and also the classes for the next twenty-nine years. There were twenty-five in the class, twenty-two girls and three boys.

One of the most notable members of this class was Miss Mollie Brown, who started her teaching career in the rural schools in the latter part of 1881. She also held the position of principal of the graded schools for many years.

The school year 1889-90 was noted for the occupation of the temporary high school building near the east end of what is now Seventeenth Street. This housing difficulty was due to the crowded condition of the old building. It did not prevent the classes that followed from becoming, as one of its members puts it, "valiant and smartest of all." They have never ceased to honor B.H.S. for all she gave them.

For the next seven years, Bedford progressed slowly, but definitely. There is little recorded in this period, 1890-97, that can be found. Nevertheless, the next few years proved that B.H.S. did excel in scholarship as well as in enrollment and culture.

All of the classes between 1897 and 1902 held their commencement exercises in the old town hall although they attended classes in the former grade building that was destroyed by fire in 1962. The old town hall was above the Stone City Bank which presently stands.

Miss Clara Friedley made these years outstanding as a member of the faculty. Perhaps no one fully realized her worth when she first entered B.H.S. as a friend, teacher, and woman. She proved to be an efficient head of the history department and a leader in all activities of the school.

Maybe it should be remembered that one of the outstanding events of the year 1904 was that the girls of the class wore trains on their dresses at commencement exercises much to the astonishment of the public.

Professor J.B. Fagan was superintendent of Bedford Public Schools from 1907 until 1917. During these years, the school prospered greatly under his leadership and many awards were bestowed upon the school system because of his tireless work.

"The Comet", a small publication similar to the PIONEER, was presented to the school. It was introduced by Howard Sproull and Clyde Hodges.

Miss Georgia Mitchusson came to Bedford High School in 1910. Her presence in the faculty leaves its memories in the school today. She worked with the senior class for most of her career here and was head of the English Department.

The old high school building was no longer used by the high school after 1911. The PIONEER was proudly presented by this class for the first time in 1911. This started a series of books which have brought many honors to B.H.S.

The high school building that stands today was completed in 1912. At that time, it was much smaller since the north and south wings were to be finished yet. Since that time, it has grown even larger.

This building possessed many new features for that time, such as domestic science and manual training departments. The gymnasium taking the space below the large assembly room was probably the largest and best floor outside of the college towns in 1912. Many a thrilling encounter was staged on this court.

During 1913-14, many new activities were introduced. The orchestra and both boys and girls clubs represented the musical talent of the school. State Discussion contests and debates were also popular. In 1914, the biggest debate yet was held with New Albany. In both classes of 1913 and 1914, there were boys basketball, baseball, and track teams. Later, in 1914, a girls basketball team was organized. This was unprecedented and proved to be quite popular to the whole school.

Probably the most outstanding event of the year, however, was on March 14, 1914, when the principals of Washington, Linton, Sullivan, and Bedford High Schools organized the South Central Athletic and Oratorical Association. This organization was a popular one and brought many honors to B.H.S.

In 1915, Mr. E.W. Montgomery organized the high school band. The first band consisted of eleven pieces. This same year the B.H.S. Drum Corps was organized and became very popular.

In 1917, there were many people who wanted an education but could not acquire it because it was necessary for them to work, so a night school was formed. It became quite popular and helpful. The commercial department became popular in the year 1917 and has continued to grow. Drama was given its share of honors when the Hoosier Pageant was presented in March, 1917.

The class of 1918 will long be remembered as the "War Class" of B.H.S. since many of its members joined the ranks that crossed the seas to fight for their native country and could not graduate with their class.

There were many sacrifices in this class that will always be remembered by their descendants and instead of having the usual Junior-Senior Banquet, a simple reception was held until the classmates could rejoin them. In place of a yearbook, a small booklet was published.

The class of 1919 made up for these disappointments, though, by achieving many wonders in this time of hardship. A number of the older boys had gone to the service in their junior year. Then the epidemic of influenza struck and the school was abandoned for several weeks. But in spite of all these difficulties, the class of 1919 won many victories in athletics, drama,

It is an unusual honor that comes to a school when one of its members in competition is selected as the finest example of sportsmanship. The first Gimbel Prize (now Trester Award) to be won by B.H.S. came to Harold Laughlin, forward of the 1920 team.

The new addition of the north end of the school building was begun in 1921. It showed how the school was growing steadily. In athletics, the school was also successful. The basketball team captured the sectional and regional but was defeated in the state tournament, which was held in Bloomington. Public speaking shared the honors likewise by winning the District and Public Speaking Discussion Contest and placing in the state contest.

The new addition at the north end of the building was opened for use in January of 1922. The Commerce Club was formed this year for those interested in the techniques of selling. The course of study that year was made more interesting by the addition of the Stone Vocational Courses and Bible Study.

Bedford again advanced to the front in sports by dedicating the new gymnasium in October of 1925. It ranked as one of the biggest and best in Indiana at that time. Before a capacity crowd, the leaders of the school administration dedicated the gym and thus began a new era in the lives of the students at B.H.S. Only through unanimous support of the Bedford citizens, was the building of the gym made possible.

The addition on the south end of the building was opened for use in the school year 1926-27. At this time, our school was one of the finest built in all of Indiana.

Scholastically, the year 1928 held many honors for B.H.S. The PIONEER for the first time won both state and All-American honors. In the field of music, the aim of the school was realized in the formation of the largest high school band we had ever had. The band made its appearances at school activities as well as city functions.

The first state championship to ever come to B.H.S. was that brought home by the wrestling team in 1929. After untiring effort, Mr. Emil Held made wrestling one of the top activities in the school for the next few years.

The close of the 1930 school year marked the resignation of the capable principal, R.B. Julian. He was succeeded by Mr. H.H. Mourer. Miss Clara Friedley, head of the history department and loved and respected by each person in the school, also retired at the close of the year.

In 1931, The Old English "B" was awarded for the first time to the students who did exceptionally well in designated courses. This award is still given to highly scholastic students.

Scarlet and Purple, the dramatics of B.H.S., was formally organized for the first time in 1937. It was directed by Mr. Darrell Gooch, and its purpose was to further the student's interest in dramatics.

Student Council was organized in 1941 by Mr. Totten, principal of B.H.S. This club has helped bring understanding from this year until the present day between the student body and the faculty.

In 1942, the Girls Athletic Association (G.A.A.) was formed for girls interested in girls sports. It became a big attraction to the public as well as the other students of the school. B.H.S. girls are still kept busy in the club.

The PIONEER of 1944 was dedicated to the "Spirit of Service" because many soldiers were coming home from the war. This happy event called for many celebrations which are portrayed in the annual. The Thespians Club began in '44 for the students interested in higher dramatics.

Our returned soldiers were given much of the attention of the people in 1947. Their presence back in the halls of B.H.S. contributed to the secured happiness of the whole student body.

No one ever weighed, measured, touched, or tasted appreciation until Mrs. C.L. McNutt established the practice of baking a cake which was served to the basketball team. This became a customary celebration after the Cutter's last game of the season.

The Stonecutter's varsity football dressing room was moved to the Parkview-Central Grade School in 1952. It was equipped with large showers, roomy office space, and plenty of storage area. The press tower was also completed at the football field. In the next year, the football scoreboard was added as a gift from the Kiwanis Club of Bedford.

One of the nicest things that had happened to Bedford High in 1954 was the addition of the industrial arts building. It contained many new and wonderful gifts that were contributed by local educational minded companies and individuals. When it opened, it was considered one of the finest in Southern Indiana. The students of B.H.S. were quite grateful to the people who helped make this possible.

The first Homecoming for B.H.S. was also held in 1954. It was celebrated with a parade and a dance as it is today. Miss Becky May was honored by being the first Homecoming queen.

The projectionist's group had provided the students with experience in the mechanism of the school's movie projectors since 1943. This club was formally organized by Miss Ruby Byerly (Mrs. Hauser) in 1957 and grown since.

The old administration building was completely refurnished in 1958. It was equipped with modern utilities and was later recognized as the most modern business office in Bedford. This building now houses special education classes and other offices since the administration offices have been moved to the Eighth Street location.

The "Stone City Student" had always been published by a journalism class before, but in 1956, the director, Mrs. Pat Endris, developed a club. It then be-

On May 9, 1962, tragedy struck Bedford High School. The auditorium which had seen so many plays, cantatas, famous lectures, and convocations was enveloped in flame and smoke. After the damaging flames had been extinguished the rebuilding was begun. The approximate cost of the new structure was $650,000.

The new junior high building was completed and opened for use in the next year, 1963. This school was much better equipped to teach the students.

Some of the new additions to B.H.S. were the reading lab, chemistry lab, and library facilities. Miss Imogene Chase retired at the end of the year after serving as instructor of English and advisor to the "Student" and PIONEER.

The building was rewired and new electrical fixtures were installed in 1965. In athletics, the football team under coach Wally Yeoman won the SIAC championship and turned in a near perfect season.

The year 1968 brought a major change to the heating system of Bedford High School. Due to deterioration and inefficiency of the coal fired furnaces, automatic boilers were bought and are now used, none too soon, though, because the old boilers were purchased in 1924.

The most notable achievement of 1969 was the

B.H.S. tracksters were undefeated. School records fell in the 440, the mile run, and the mile relay. One runner, Maurice Ragsdale, was sent to the state championship meet. The cindermen under Ted Fox placed second in the sectional and sixteenth in the regional meet. Another special event in sports for the year of '69 was the trip to the semi-state with our basketball team. Coach Ray Manis had led the team to many victories and for the first time in twenty years a trip to the semi-state.

The 1970 PIONEER was dedicated to Principal, Elmer Dunbar, who was retiring after eleven years at B.H.S. Another faculty member who will be missed by all of her students is Mrs. Helen Gunn Chandler who retired after a forty-six year tenure at Bedford High School.

In the fall of 1970, many of our students were spending a part of their school day at the new Vocational Building that was completed during the summer on the site of the proposed new high school.

. . . and so in 1971 Bedford High School recalls the days victory, the days of defeat; the times of satisfaction, the times of sorrow; the people who have made it great; and compare these with the exciting times in our own lives at B.H.S. We look forward with anticipation to the future for it will have to be GREAT!

Education Provides Experience

With the fast pace of today, the beginning of a new era, total comprehension between individuals must be an accepted fact. Man should awake to the ideas of others. But, this cannot be accomplished unless he has a means by which he can begin to set standards. He needs a method for thinking, a way for developing new ideas. A high school education provides a sufficient background of thoughts and ideas. He learns what to expect from others in human relationships. The knowledge and experience found in a high school can only be offered. An individual must choose to accept it.

A reader should study and research the beliefs of others, then he should formulate his own opinion.

SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS

As superintendent of North Lawrence Community School, Dr. Dan A. Schafer carries a tremendous weight of responsibility, which he has completely fulfilled since he became superintendent in 1956.

The seven key factors involved in decisions of importance to the school system are the members of the Board of School Trustees. Though directing this system, with the addition of a new vocational building, bears definite burdens, these board members are stable and fundamental in the smoothness of the operation of the school corporation.

Bedford High School's new principal was warmly welcomed into the activities of the Stonecutters. Dr. Billy Abel has been a school administrator for sixteen years. After receiving his A.B. degree from Taylor and Franklin Universities, he taught history and coached basketball at Pekin, Paoli, and Charleston High Schools. His graduate work was done at the University of Louisville and Indiana University, where he also received his D. Ed. He was formerly Principal of Attica and Plainfield and Ben Davis High School in Indianapolis. Dr. Abel has initiated innovations into the program of BHS which will help to keep the educational system competitive for the students.

Education Stress Fundamental Skills

Students show interest in Health and Safety.

Freshman boys tumble to keep fit.

Tests are a requirement in P.E. too.

Excellent Service Personnel Ensure Prompt,

Mrs. Rachel Myers, Teachers Aide; Mrs. Myra Jo Canfield, Teachers Aide.

Joyce McPike,
School Nurse

Mrs. Harriet Rowe, Secretary to the Principal helps keep the office going.

Efficient Maintenance of School

Mrs. Elizabeth Dayton, Secretary of Finance keeps the school financial records in order.

Phyllis Bogner hearing and speech therapist administers a test.

Mira Canfield keeps busy working on student files.

ACADEMIC

Home Ec Trains

Home Economics classes educate girls in skills that will be useful to them as potential homemakers. This knowledge is gained through learning with practice on modern equipment. Home management, cooking, and sewing are included in the course for balance.

This table illustrates a nourishing breakfast.

Doing dishes are also a job of the future homemakers.

Debbie Day represents Bedford High School in the style show

Home Economics isn't all business, some of it is fun!

Future Homemakers

Good habits create better homemakers.

Knit one; purl two.

Mrs. Richardson instructs Ann in the fine art of hemming.

Karen irons out her problems along with her garment.

Classical and Contemporary Sounds . . .

An art class provides a means for a student to be creative in a physical sense. Through thoughts projected by the hands of an artist, perception and comprehension can occur. These ideas, retained in the art forms, can relate to all, the beliefs of the creator. All art forms maintain the beliefs of the artist.

Final touches make a big difference.

Myra pours hot wax into her mold.

Ink is a very important factor in Art.

Posing for beginning classes brings many different results.

Permeate the Atmosphere

Both the vocal and instrumental divisions of the music department have a varying selection from which to choose. From the old world sounds of Wagner, to the modern sounds of today, all forms of music, including the sound patterns, are studied.

The flute plays a very important part in this number.

Mr. Jefferies reviews the Christmas program.

Mr. Barrett conducts the training choir

Greg carefully studies his part.

Mathematics Develops

A valuable education in mathematics provides an applicable background of basic principles, procedures, and logic. This background is a prime foundation for more advanced study of math and science. For those not planning further study in these fields, the common use of geometric, algebraic and arithmetical theories will be constant.

Geometrical shapes help show math students the perspectives of Math.

Math seems to be a very mystifying subject, even to the most studious.

Math seems to have all types of instruments to help the students as this one holds Dale Anderson's attention.

Logical Thinking

Miss Gabbard gives a math problem to her students.

The blackboard plays a big role in all math classes.

Math not only takes intelligence but a lot of studying also.

Understanding the World Through Reasoning

Anatomy, vegetation, matter, energy, existence, all tend to baffle the student. The study of the sciences assures the student of a sound background with which to find the solution. Through experimentation, discussion and research he can solve the problem. Large selections of classes satisfy student needs.

Gravity and its laws are important to Physics.

Some of the Biology slides are very interesting as you can see!

Frank Deckard explains the chemical composition to T.J. Fountaine.

Through slides students can understand cell structure of organisms.

and Experimentation Stimulates the Inquisitive

Gene Davidson works the experiment while Rusty Holloway watches.

The microscope brings protozoa to life.

Sally Ingalls explains the fundamentals of Physics to Wes Tindal and Diane Schneider.

David Martis watches Tommy Thomas pour the solution for a chemistry equation.

Proper and precise measurements are essential ingredients for chemistry experiments.

Actions Train Muscles and Offset Pressures

Physical education not only encourages anatomical activity, but also tension release. It offers a student a method for easing away from the common classroom pressures. Helpful in keeping muscles in tone, physical education entails several forms of activity, each being employed fully. Exercises and sports utilize muscles.

These girls seem to enjoy their exercises.

Here fellow students watch as a classmate demonstrates a forward roll.

. . . and this is how it's done.

Jumpball.

Basketball is also included in the Girl's Physical Education program.

Chris gets the fundamentals of Driver's Education.

Drivers Education Is a Study in Safety

A drivers training course is offered as an aid and a safety class for students. Within one semester, students learn state laws regarding motor vehicles, they train behind the wheel in a car, and receive practice through films.

Bob Veith, a veteran of the Indianapolis "500" gives an interesting and informative talk and film to the student body. Mr. Veith is also a member of the National Safety Council and makes trips to every part of the country speaking to students about safety on the highways.

To Offer an Opportunity for Increasing

At no time in history have we more needed the education to look back and comprehend, to look at today and analyze, to look toward the future and resolve. Such education occurs as an increase in total awareness and concern. Social studies is about leading the student to the time when his mind begins to ask its own questions as a responsible adult in a modern society.

Abe Lincoln has played a major role in U.S. History.

Debbie appears to enjoy her World Geography class.

In studying our history, students learn how to exercise their right to vote.

Awareness Is Aim of Social Studies

Charts aid students in studying the basics of local government.

Tan uses a map to study his new home area.

Business Education Readies Pupils for Business education involves two distinct areas. Actual business training is preparation for clerical or secretarial occupations and includes learning office procedures, typing, shorthand, and machine use. The personal use division generally concerns note-taking and typing for use by the college bound.

Wayne puts the adding machine to good use.

Bookkeeping is an excellent way to prepare for college accounting courses.

The business law classes' bulletin board is quite intriguing.

Retail Selling is included in Bedford High's curriculum to prepare students for the future.

Occupations and Further Study

First year typists learn typing techniques.

Theresa Deckard concentrates as she types exercises to increase her speed.

Bookkeeping students learn to use adding machines efficiently.

Unusual Customs and Traditions Add Interest

There is much more to understanding a foreign language than knowing its vocabulary or rules of grammar. Because all tongues have fine traces of people and customs in them, all aspects should be studied to comprehend one. The language department at Bedford tries to teach its students some of each country's oddities and charm in addition to its speech.

The traditional piñata plays a big part in Spanish festivals.

John Farrell and Dennis Brashear ease the foreign language tapes.

Julie Blackwell tries to comprehend what is said over the head set.

Wes Tindal uses the ever reliable book to help him in the usage of foreign words.

to the Study of Foreign Languages

Foreign languages contain not only work and frustration but also parties.

Señora Kyme listens to her Spanish students over the console.

Some of the boys try their hand at singing in German for Christmas.

Industrial Arts Programs

Bruce works on his drafting.

Woodshop carves industrial talents.

Drafting is important in machine shop too.

Pee Wee uses his muscle on metal.

Skilled hands are an important factor in working with wood.

Develop Useful Skills

You must know your machines before you work them.

Drafting requires steady hands and precise measurements.

Bob Wray demonstrates his talents.

Machine Shop exercises students mechanical abilities.

Individual Student Creativity Is Achieved

The communication and comprehension of all of the English language is an essentiality. The ability to express one's thoughts to another is truly a necessity of today. Only through study can this achievement be accomplished. All facets require examination; an investigation must be made of each. With the use of creative self-expression and the study of communication achievement in understanding can be made.

Speech Classes display models to ancient England.

Modern reading machines aid students in comprehension of what they read.

Mrs. Biven's gives fundamentals of literature to her Junior Literature Class.

English bulletin boards stress the meaning of Thanksgiving.

With Methods of Self-Expression

Freshmen display thoughts and ideas through posters.

Jody Hackney gives an interesting talk in Mrs. Armstrong's English Class.

Mrs. Endris gives an assignment to her Sophomore English Class.

Seniors Enjoy

Becky Bell and Mark sit out a dance at Homecoming.

Kristi and Randy really swing to the music.

Wonder where his mind is . . . !

Dave feels the mood of the music.

Some people do their thing sitting down.

Senior boys enjoy the dance with Junior girls.

Last Homecoming . . .

"Up, Up, and Away"

This really is touchy business!

. . . and Some Work

One inch larger for the season's growth.

At least it's not the comics . . .

Watch out for those fingers.

Underclassmen spend a few moments alone during a routine school day.

Often Give Way to Pensive Moments

The mind is the single characteristic that makes a person an individual. A thought develops into an idea and an idea develops into an act. From these solitary thoughts come great happenings, in the lives of men.

Mr. Yeoman ponders a new way to run the offense.

When the season opened it looked as if the Bedford Stonecutters would be O.K. even though they lost to a tough Terre Haute Wiley team. But as the year progressed the breaks started going against Bedford. The offense just couldn't get started and the defense fell apart. Even though it was a losing season, the team gave it everything they had.

Industrious Yearbook Staff Produces

First Pioneer Staff

Editor-in-Chief, Webb Gainey, Assistant Editor, Mabel Parker, Second Assistant Editor, Helen Sugerman, Business Manager, Walter Murphy, Assistant Business Managers, Kent Bass, Wilbur Owens, and Paul Byers. Artists, Voyle Armstrong and Von Graham, Athletic Editor, Ralph Gainey, Literary, Margaret Reid, Assistants, Eddie Thornton, Esther Mayer, Fern Fields, Social, Florence Norton, Assistants, Florence Emery, Jane Durrenberger, Lelia Whitted and Anna McMahon, Jokes, A. Campbell, Assistants, Frances Harrison, and Mary Bailey, Reportorial Staff, Dorothy Jones, Rowe Taylor, Emery Love, and Lois Harbison.

It was 1911 when The Pioneer was first issued by students of BHS. Previous to 1911, the "Comet", a bi-monthly paper of smaller dimensions, had been edited. At this time, there had been a request for a school annual and the Senior class of 1911 assumed the none too small responsibility of publishing the first High School annual.

From 1911-1918, Miss Georgia Mitchusson served as advisor. Then in 1919, Miss Alford held the post until Mr. I. M. McFadden took over the project in 1928 and continued to 1941 when Miss Imogene Chase became advisor. Miss Chase held this position until 1963 when Mr. Glenn Rhode became the advisor. In 1964 our present advisor, Mr. Byron Baker took this position and has held it since except in 1968 when Mr. Tom Owens was advisor of the Pioneer.

Row 1: Pat Manis, Brian Chase, Jim Blackwell, Joe Wray, Ellis Holman, Mr. Baker, sponsor. Row 2: Nancy Dunihue, Amy Mooneyham, Becky Simmons, Kathy Salz, Karen Trezek, Cindy Gross, Gayle Rom-

Anniversary 1971 Pioneer Edition

At an early meeting of the staff chosen to edit the first edition, the discussion of a name for it was in order. Kent Bass, one of the assistant business managers, made the suggestion, it being the pioneer in the field of annual books for B.H.S. why not call it the "Pioneer". After due consideration his suggestion was accepted, and the class of 1911 laid the first log on the Pioneer cabin, with this request "let each succeeding class add a log to the cabin". After sixty issues of the Pioneer, the cabin that was started in 1911 is nearing completion.

The idea for this centennial celebration issue of the Pioneer, a suggestion by a local businessman, Mr. Owen Roberts, was made to the advisor and plans were set in motion for its completion. Early in 1970, the staff started compiling lists of graduates and with the aid of Mr. Jack Short's typing students, the lists were finished. During the summer, a member of each class headed committees to "track down" and secure the latest information on each former graduate. It was a great day, March 10, 1971, when the final copy was delivered to the post office and the printing of this edition started.

It is the hope of the 1971 Pioneer Staff that each reader will relive the days of the illustrious Pioneers that have helped to build the fine institution that we all have enjoyed and remember the exciting days that each have spent at B.H.S.

Compiling of the pages was one of Mike Mullis' jobs.

Editor, Sheila Thorne, and Chris Buchanan discuss the historical part of the yearbook.

Checking and rechecking for correct spelling is all in a day's work for Vern Adams and Cathy Paletino.

Imaginative and Creative Ideas Accentuate

When Student Council was first organized it went by the name, Boy Sponsors. It was an all boy organization started by Mr. Abbott in 1924. The purpose was to raise the standards of the school and to help the principal on controversies that arise pertaining to the school. The girls organized a council that did the same as the Boys Council, except it dealt with problems concerning girls. It was begun in 1926 by Miss Ellen Teare.

The two combined in 1941 and have functioned to help the school in anyway they can and to give the students more communication with the faculty.

Each year the Student Council sponsors the Homecoming activities, hall monitors, a used bookstore, and decorate the halls for the holidays.

NHS Promotes Leadership,

Formed in 1943, the National Honor Society has recognized top students on the basis of four important criteria. They are character, scholarship, service and leadership. Every spring National Honor Society members have been chosen by teachers rating from the top 10 per cent of the Junior Class and the top five percent of the Senior Class. Requirements for membership are exacting and there is a constant challenge to meeting these demands.

The Societies activities have included selection of Students of the Month and the Student of the Year, sending letters of congratulations to honor roll students, and entering a car in the Homecoming Parade.

Carol Gage, treasurer of this year's National Honor Society, works diligently with secretary Connie Manning.

Meetings are conducted by NHS President, Peter Kasting.

Members of National Honor Society offer their services as tutors for those who wish help.

Outstanding Bedford Band Executes

The Bedford High School Band was organized in 1915, under the direction of Mr. E. F. Burton and Principal E. W. Montgomery. The band consisted of eleven members. Their first public performance took place at the Washington-Bedford basketball game. Over the years the band has grown to 86 members. The band plays at home football and basketball games and is now one of the finest bands in the state.

The Future Nurses Club of B.H.S. was founded in 1955 in order that the students who were interested in nursing could become acquainted with the duties of a nurse.

This club is still functioning today and plays an active part in our community. With the addition of the new hospital, the Future Nurses have had to expand their services.

Future Teachers of America, organized in Bedford in 1957 under the supervision of Mrs. Beulah Ruch, provides the upperclassmen with an opportunity to expand their experience in teaching. Each second semester this organization sponsors a cadet teaching program in the North Lawrence Grade School system. It provides the students with practical, first-hand knowledge of the teaching profession. This Cadet Teaching program was originated in 1960 and has helped many students pursue their goal of becoming teachers.

Outstanding School Newspaper

The students of Bedford High School had not attempted to publish a school paper until the year 1918. In that year, through the efforts of Blaine Guthrie, editor-in-chief, and George Armstrong, assistant editor, "The Stone City Student", a semi-monthly publication came into existence. Mr. Merle J. Abbott, then the High School principal was the faculty advisor.

In 1925 a change in faculty advisors gave Miss Imogene Chase full charge of the publication. A journalism class was established by Miss Chase and a great part of their work was given over to the editing of the "Student".

The publishing of "The Stone City Student" became an organization in 1956, and it is still functioning today under the direction of Mrs. Pat Endris.

Directing and explaining musical arrangements to the Choir and Glee Clubs is the job of Mr. James Barrett.

Many B.H.S.'ers desire a better understanding of music. Some fulfill this desire by joining one of the singing groups. Through practice, the students learn to read music, use their voices properly, and to better appreciate music.

Talented Students Extend Creative

Posing for art class is very important.

The Art Club was organized in 1930. The main purpose of this club was to study the life and works of noted artists. At this time any person taking art was eligible to join the club. One credit was then received from this club and Miss Marshall was the first person to sponsor the organization. Mr. Jim Blyeth is now the sponsor of the Art Club and members participate only for their enjoyment.

The dramatics club was organized in 1918 by Miss Georgia Mitchuson.

On April 15, 1937, under the official title of Scarlet and Purple, the drama club presented Marian DeForest's "Little Women." It was under the guidance and direction of Darrell Gooch. Other sponsors have been Miss Betty Jo Hanson, Mrs. Helen Chandler, Donald Orban, and John Moon. It is currently under the direction of Victor Fields.

"A Tailor Made Man", "Footloose", "Spring Fever", "Time Out for Ginger", "We Shook the Family Tree", "Holiday for Lovers", "Inherit the Wind", and "See How They Run" are among the many plays the club has performed. Most recently "The Ransom Of Red Chief," a children's play in two acts, was put on. The money raised provided "spots" for the auditorium.

Bedford High School also had an active Thespian chapter since it was chartered in 1944 as Troupe 609.

Forensics and Debate Clubs have done fine work in promoting students speaking abilities.

The Debate League was first organized in 1913. In the early part of the century, its activities included not only debate but oratory and discussion.

Speakers's Bureau has also been formed as a service to various public organizations who wish to have programs performed by high school students.

One of the projects of Key Club this year was to mark off parking spaces in the school parking lot. Roger Marley, above, takes his turn with the brush and the results are evident, right.

Key Club was originated at Bedford High School in 1945 under the sponsorship of I. M. McFadden, assistant principal of B.H.S. This was the first chapter to be organized in Indiana. Key Club is an international honorary organization for high school boys and is sponsored by local Kiwanis Clubs. This active organization, comprised of responsible young men conducts many projects each year.

The sporting activities of the girls had been greatly improved and extended to many more persons under this plan. In its beginning, G.A.A. consisted of basketball, volleyball, tumbling, tennis and archery. Today this program has expanded to include swimming, softball, ice skating, bowling and track and is under the supervision of Mrs. Sharol Lackowski.

THE ALUMNI

It is with a feeling of great pride that the 1970 Pioneer Staff presents you with this record of the graduates of the school they will soon claim as their Alma Mater. Many of our graduates have achieved distinction, serving our country in military activity, in public leadership, in good wholesome ways, but mostly as good citizens—the back bone of any nation.

To work with 8117 names covering the 100 years of Bedford High School without error, would be impossible. We do, however, feel that this record is for the most part accurate. We feel that our goal of letting you know "where they are and what they are doing" has been reached.

If we had ample room, we would give you more information about our past graduates. Lacking that space, we have given you the location, occupation, and name of your fellow graduates of Bedford High School.

We wish to thank the members of the various classes for their invaluable help in this endeavor. Without their assistance, the task would not have been completed.

We hope that our readers will enjoy this historical record as much as we, the 1970 PIONEER Staff, enjoyed compiling it.

During the sixty year history of the PIONEER, Bedford area businessmen have provided a large portion of the funds necessary for the yearbook's publication. Within this time, marked changes have been introduced in the merchandising field. Previously, most goods were brought to Bedford by train and sold in stores downtown. Due to lack of room for expansion in the business area, stores began to re-locate in the plazas being built on the outskirts of Bedford. Today, neon signs advertise shopping both downtown and at the plazas. As progress continues to change area living, Bedford's motto, "Best Today—Better Tomorrow," endures.

The business staff of the 60th edition of the PIONEER set out to sell more ads and more copies of the yearbook than ever before. We wish to thank the advertisers that contributed in order to publish this edition even though their ads did not receive the space normally allotted for ads.

PATRONS

A black and white photograph showing a coastal or marshy area. In the foreground, several white birds, possibly gulls or terns, are standing on a sandy or rocky shore. The water extends to the horizon. In the background, there are dark, silhouetted shapes of trees or bushes. The overall tone is grainy and has a historical feel.

Scarlet & Purple Players Present

Kim Scherschel demonstrates ol' Uncle Ebenezer's strict expression.

Red Chief, played by Tom Scherschel hears a lecture on inhuman treatment from those kidnapped.

Cindy Petrie learns to bounce a balloon during a scene as Mary Alice.

Birdwatchers have trouble keeping their directions straight.

"The Ransom of Red Chief"

CANDID

"And don't be surprised if sometime, somewhere, someplace, someone walks up to you and says, 'Smile you're on Candid Camera!'"

PIONEER THANKS . . .

The staff of PIONEER '71 wishes to extend thank-yous to Mr. Byron Baker, advisor, the faculty and staff of Bedford High School, Mr. Owen "Shorty" Roberts and his staff, and the Inter-Collegiate Press. A special thanks to the hundreds of people who have contributed time and money to make this issue possible.

The year of the midi's, mini's, and maxi's.

Lunch break is always welcome.

SIMPLE SHARINGS . . .

With the closing of this school year, PIONEER staff members recall the many year-long sharings. Always to remain a part of each staffer is the bright pink and yellow "Dummy" book, the nearly 2000 pictures needing cropping and recropping, the endless changes to supposedly "finished" layouts, the amount of food consumed at the afternoon meetings which somehow were anything but meetings, and last but not least the endurance of the concessions stands with the spilled cokes and dumped popcorn. Each will carry with them these "Panic" times but, hopefully, uppermost in mind will be these enriching times . . .

This is communication.

Dirt in the contact . . . what a problem.

The pause between classes brings communication.

Mark, Larry, and Bill must be discussing the lesson.

The bus met each day . . . What a shame.

As graduation and the high school years come to a close, the bright light of the future beacons eternallyhopeful youth, to search for and create its own Golden Years within the realm of tomorrow.
